

Mike and The Plane Crash

Mike was on the way to meet his relatives on the plane with his parents. He'd never been on a plane before and this was his first time! When one of the flight attendants came she said, "and what can I get for you young sir." Mike was so caught off guard his mom whispered to him "what soda do you want." After Mike knew what to say he said, "can I have a sprite please." A few minutes later he woke back up to grab his sprite from the attendant, he drank it and thought to himself, this plane could never disappoint me.

Once he woke back up to the pilot saying, "We are experiencing major turbulence, please keep your seatbelts on." Once Mike heard that he was sorta worried. The pilot came back on the speaker and said, "one of our engines exploded from some ducks passing by, sorry for the inconvenience." Inconvenient it was, they were right over a forest! Mike had a huge fear of the forest. Suddenly he felt the plane going down! He was super scared and then he closed his eyes. He did not plan for this to happen. Then he landed. He had just landed but something was wrong, at the time he did not know what happened but then he realized that he was in one piece. Once he realized he was in one piece, he did not know what to do next and he did not know how to survive in the forest and he just sat there thinking that he had one true fear, being alone.

He felt so alone that he thought it was all just a dream so he went to sleep expecting he would be with his relatives but he wasn't. But then he saw another person looking around as well. Then he thought "Oh wow another person i'm not alone!" once he realized he was relieved. Then he thought to himself "yay a friend!" He tried to get up but he couldn't. When he realized that he was too tired to get up, he tried to crawl to a tree. Once he got up he went over to the other person. He was about to say something when the other boy said "Are you a survivor?" Mike was a little shocked so he said "Yes, yes I am." Then the little boy said "what is your name?" "My name is Mike, what's yours?" "My name is John." After that awkward greeting, Mike helped him up. Then Mike said "Do you wanna be friends?" There was a long pause and then John said "sure." But then Mike realized that they had to make fire to try to cook food. After he realized he told John who said "I know how to make fire so Mike asked him how and John said " All you need is flint and steel." when Mike realized that John was thinking of minecraft he realized he had his pocket knife and he was right next to a stone. Two minutes later they got some wood they found and then Mike struck the rock but only 3 sparks came out. Then he struck the rock hard and fast and the pile did not light.

It was starting to get dark and cold so Mike hit the stone five times in a row and hit it hard then there was fire! They had done it and felt accomplished but by then it was really dark so they both wanted to sleep. They went to sleep and the next morning John woke up sick! Mike had never been a babysitter before so he tried to think what a babysitter would do. He was thinking of many things but then he remembered that planes had a survival kit near the front of the plane so Mike went over to the front of the plane and found the survival kit stuck! It was stuck in the ground and Mike pulled with all his might and he got it out! He darted back to John to give him the medicine and he said “Thank you for the medicine Mike.” “Your welcome, John.”

The next day they went on a hike in the forest and Mike thought it looked familiar and then up ahead he saw a table so they both sprinted ahead to get to the table and it was a map! Once they figured out they were in a forest in Canada where his dad lived, they found a map stand so they grabbed a map and went to Mike’s dad’s house. Finally after two days of walking and taking breaks, they visited his house and when they went in, Mike’s dad said hello to John and they told him their stories in the forest and how they got there and the whole thing kept Mike thinking, “what if that happened on the way back home?”
